

Erin Bordelon
D.R. Horton, Inc.
Video Statement: none

1. Please describe in light of the responsibilities of the RESNET Board why you are the right person to be a member of the RESNET Board of Directors

I have spent my career advancing sustainability through energy efficiency, advocating for policies and strategic opportunities to expand the use of independent 3rd party rating systems. My role as National Sustainability Manager at D.R. Horton, the largest homebuilder, I work with a variety of both internal and external stakeholder and if elected to the RESNET Board, I will represent the voice of large-scale production builders and the LBA in matters. I believe it is important to expand the use of RESNET Standards and streamline data collection and certification processes for RESNET as it relates to ESG, ESTAR and GreenMBS programs.

2. Why is this the right time for you to serve on the RESNET Board?

I will be serving on behalf of the Leading Builders of America and will represent the large-scale production homebuilders. Through my role as National Sustainability Manager at D.R. Horton, the largest homebuilder in the United States, I work with a variety of both internal and external stakeholders to develop and deliver policies, guidelines and strategy related to sustainability, home performance energy ratings and certifications, incentive programs, tax credits, building science and ESG initiatives.

3. Please explain your knowledge and/or experience in terms of each of the primary responsibilities of the RESNET Board

I have experience in both leadership and technical roles at a RESNET Ratings Provider and Rating firm. I hold certifications as a RESNET HERS Rater, Rater Trainer, and QA Delegate, as well as credentials as a LEED AP Homes, NGBS Green Verifier and IECC Residential Inspector and Plans Examiner. Prior to joining D.R. Horton, I managed energy code compliance, and green building certification processes on numerous single-family, multifamily, and commercial new construction projects. I will represent the large production homebuilders.

4. Describe your experience in either leadership and/or serving on the board of a non-profit organization.

Throughout my career I have worked closely with several non-profit industry organization and held numerous leadership positions in those organizations such as Urban Land Institute (Membership Chair, Center for Leadership Co-Chair), AIA (Committee on the Environment), USGBC (Education & Events Chair), as well as maintained significant presence in green building and energy programs, advocating for supportive policies and strategic opportunities to expand the use of independent 3rd party rating systems.

5. What would you contribute to the RESNET Board?

My contribution to the RESNET Board will be to act as the voice of large-scale production builders and the LBA in matters that come before the Board. I believe it is important to expand the use of RESNET Standards and continue to solidify the role of RESNET, HERS Raters and HERS Index Scores as our industry draws focus and attention from large institutions and investors moving forward. I look forward to helping builders, raters, and our stakeholders align by increasing the effectiveness of our future new home ratings Index systems and continued adoption of HERS Index Scores.

